MESSAGE from THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The Congregational Library is a unique spot in our busy, always “new and improved” world. It is a crossroads between the very old and the very new, a place where you can catch the comforting whiff of old books as you walk through our stacks, and then find the one you are looking for by the touch of a computer key. Here you will find the latest digital technology put to work to bring scattered and vanishing manuscripts from seventeenth and eighteenth-century Congregational churches—what we call New England’s Hidden Histories—into the wider world. A quick visit to our website and genealogists can search through our database of 30,000 obituaries, churches will find all they need to know about managing their old records, and researchers will find bibliographies, images, and access to archival collections.

This has been a year of fun and accomplishment. In October we launched the Congregational Bulletin, a new look and new life, with everything we call New England’s Hidden Histories—to the wider world. A quick whiff of old books as you walk through a place where you can catch the comforting images, and access to archival collections.

WE ARE A PLACE WHERE AGE-OLD MEMORIES FIND NEW LIFE AND NEW MEANING, EVEN IN AN ENDLESSLY CHANGING WORLD. At the Congregational Library the past has a future. This year we’ve worked to bring scattered and vanishing manuscripts from seventeenth and eighteenth-century Congregational churches—what we call New England’s Hidden Histories—into the wider world. A quick visit to our website and genealogists can search through our database of 30,000 obituaries, churches will find all they need to know about managing their old records, and researchers will find bibliographies, images, and access to archival collections.

We are a place where age-old memories find new life and new meaning, even in an endlessly changing world. At the Congregational Library the past has a future.

I discovered the CL holdings pertinent to my project quite late in my research process and was facing a book deadline. [The archivists] went out of their way to make it possible for me to complete the work I needed to do before my deadline…the book was transformed and became much more expansive."

This has been a year of fun and accomplishment. In October we held our birthday celebration with a public conference in our Reading Room; we honored one of our own, the inimitable Cotton Mather, with a 350th birthday party. We gave a toast to Cotton’s final resting place in the Copps Hill cemetery. We gave a toast to End, his old eighteenth-century stomping grounds, and raised a toast to the Congregational Bulletin a new look and new life, with everything put to work to bring scattered and vanishing manuscripts from our stacks, and then find the one you are looking for by the touch of a computer key.
